Strickland Memorial Endowment in Entomology

Colonel E.H. Strickland (1889-1962)
Founder and first Chair of Entomology
at the University of Alberta

The Strickland Memorial Endowment in Entomology has supported the annual Strickland Memorial Lecture and Dinner since 1996. These important events bring together entomologically oriented colleagues from the University of Alberta and across the province for an afternoon of learning and an evening of socializing. Academics, government researchers, graduate students, undergraduates, and passionate amateurs all benefit from this opportunity to interact with invited speakers from around the world and with local colleagues. Strickland Lecture topics have included plant-insect interactions, the evolution of host-specificity in lice, how flies fly, evo-devo of butterfly wings, and a wide range of other arthropod related subjects.

Your charitable contribution to the Strickland Memorial Endowment will help to ensure that the entomological community in Alberta continues to thrive and expand.

Floreat Entomologia!
